Radio D – Teil 1

Folge 03 – Fahrt nach Berlin

Philipp macht sich auf den Weg nach Berlin. Aber das gestaltet sich nicht so einfach wie erwartet. Das Wetter macht ihm einen Strich durch die Rechnung. Währenddessen stellen sich einige Personen vor.

Philipp ist mit dem Auto unterwegs zum Flughafen in München. Von dort möchte er nach Berlin fliegen. Doch wie im Wetterbericht angekündigt, sorgen heftiger Regen und Gewitter dafür, dass die Fahrt länger dauert als erwartet.

Gleichzeitig stellen sich die Mitarbeiter der Redaktion von Radio D sowie Philipp und seine Mutter in dieser Episode einmal richtig vor. Die verschiedenen Arten der Vorstellung machen klar, wie man sich freundschaftlich oder förmlich begrüßt.

Manuskript der Folge 03

You're listening to Radio D, the radio language course of Redaktion D, a joint project of the Goethe Institut and Deutsche Welle Radio. The author is Herrad Meese.

Moderator

Hello again. Welcome to Episode Three of your German course, Radio D. Today we'll be telling you a bit more about the people in our story and where it's playing.

First listen to a scene again that you already know. Do you remember how in the last episode the phone rang in a house in the country and the caller wanted to speak to a young man there? Do you remember his name?

Frau Frisch

Philipp? Ja, der ist da.
Einen Moment bitte.

Philipp.

Philipp

Ja?

Frau Frisch

Telefon.

Philipp

Was?

Frau Frisch

Telefon.

Radio D – Teil 1

Philipp

Wer?

Moderator

So, we've caught up again with Philipp.

He's one of the main characters in this German course.

Hallo, Philipp, would you please introduce yourself to our listeners?

Szene 1: In der Redaktion

Philipp

Hallo.

Moderator

Oh great – do you think you could deign to say a bit more?

Philipp

Hallo, ich bin Philipp.

Moderator

Oh well, let's just leave it at that. His mind's obviously on something else so he's not very talkative just now. When Philipp arrived at his country destination he greeted a woman by her first name.

Philipp

Tag, Hanne.

Moderator

When she was answering the phone, the woman said her first and her surname.

Frau Frisch

Hanne Frisch, guten Tag.

Moderator

Frau Frisch, Hanne Frisch, is another protagonist in this course. Now, there's a clue coming up about how she and Philipp are connected. Remember, this is how they greeted each other in Episode One.

Frau Frisch

Hallo, Philipp. Tag, mein Junge. Willkommen.

Philipp

Tag, Hanne.

Radio D – Teil 1

Moderator

“Good day, my boy” – TAG, MEIN JUNGE – is the typical way a mother will greet her son even if the boy, “der Junge”, is more than 20 years old...

So, Frau Frisch is Philipp's mother.

And I happen to know that she's keen to introduce herself. But just to be polite, I'll ask her. Frau Frisch, would you like to introduce yourself to our learners of German?

Frau Frisch

Aber gern.

Also – ich bin Frau Frisch, Hanne Frisch.

Moderator

Philipp addresses his mother by her first name – which is quite usual in some German families these days. Only when he wants to end the discussion, he calls her MUTTER a bit formally.

But that doesn't stop Frau Frisch from telling him what she thinks.

Philipp

Mutter, ich fahre nach Berlin.

Frau Frisch

Was? Nach Berlin? Sofort?

Moderator

The reason Philipp abruptly broke off his visit to his mother was a phone call from Paula – a very pleasant person in our German by radio course.

Hallo Paula, tell our listeners a bit about yourself, would you please?

Szene 2: In der Redaktion

Paula

Okay.

Ich heiße Paula. Ich bin Redakteurin.
Redakteurin bei Radio D in Berlin.

Moderator

Thanks. Quite a bit of information there. So, her name's Paula.

Paula

Ich heiße Paula.

Moderator

She also tells us that she's a journalist.

Radio D – Teil 1

Paula

Ich bin Redakteurin.

Moderator

A journalist with a radio station called Radio D.

Paula

Redakteurin bei Radio D.

Moderator

And you most likely also caught that the Radio D news department is in Berlin, the German capital.

Paula

Redakteurin bei Radio D in Berlin.

Moderator

And Philipp wants to join Paula at Radio B as soon as possible. She's asked him to hurry. And if you ask me, Philipp is quite fond of Paula.

First he has to drive his car to Munich – in the south of Germany – and from there he intends to fly to Berlin, which is in the north. Let's join Philipp first on his drive. He's listening to the radio, a favourite pursuit of it. By chance, the news he's hearing on his car radio precisely reflects his own situation. And that'll help you guess what the news is about.

Szene 3: Auf der Autobahn*Ayhan

Radio D...

Paula

... das Wetter.

Nachrichtensprecherin

Tief Tim bringt heftige Regenfälle und Gewitter nach Bayern.

Philipp

Regen, Gewitter – das merke ich auch so.

Moderator

That was the weather report for Bavaria, where Philipp is on the motorway – and isn't that always the way? You're in a special hurry, and something's sure to slow you down, like rain and a thunderstorm while you're driving. That's not just very unpleasant, it also forces you to drive slowly. Not even the radio's a consolation then... Listen again for the station Philipp is tuned to.

Radio D – Teil 1

Ayhan
Radio D...

Paula
... das Wetter.

Moderator

It's Radio D – and Radio D's current affairs department is the setting for this German language course. You already know that Paula's a journalist there. And you've also heard her colleague, Ayhan. Hallo Ayhan, let the listeners hear you say a bit more, would you?

Szene 4: In der Redaktion

Ayhan
O, sorry, Entschuldigung.
Mein Name ist Ayhan.
Ich arbeite auch bei Radio D.

Moderator

Ouch... Ayhan could use a new swivel chair – or at least put a drop of oil on the one he's got. Then he wouldn't have to excuse himself to you...

Ayhan
O, sorry, Entschuldigung.

Moderator

And our professor also works in that current affairs department, who's just... just now... hang on a moment. Now what's that? That can only be...

Szene 5: In der Redaktion

Josefine
Professor, immer der Professor!
Und ich?
Und ich? Ich bin auch bei Radio D.

Moderator

Yep, that was Josefine, another of the characters who plays in our course. She doesn't work in current affairs, she does other jobs.
You'll get to know her better. But now it really is time for our professor. There's a lot to explain today, right?

Professor

Oh yes, indeed, pretty hard to choose, too. But I didn't think we were supposed to be looking at any details of the German language this episode.

Radio D – Teil 1

Paula

Und nun kommt – unser Professor.

Ayhan

Radio D...

Paula

... Gespräch über Sprache.

Professor

Listeners, I'd like to ask you to concentrate on some complete statements about introductions.

Moderator

Fine, so let's hear again how everyone we've met on the course introduced themselves.

Professor

Right. Let's start with the not so talkative Philipp. First he just says "Hallo" and then adds: "Hallo, ich bin Philipp."

Sprecher

Hallo.

Hallo, ich bin Philipp.

Moderator

You know, "hallo" is an everyday sort of greeting. And that fits with the fact that he introduces himself by his first name.

Philipp

Hallo.

Hallo, ich bin Philipp.

Professor

That's right. "Hallo" is what friends would say. Philipp's mother, though, introduces herself by her first name and her surname.

Sprecherin

Hanne Frisch.

Ich bin Hanne Frisch.

Frau Frisch

Also – ich bin Frau Frisch, Hanne Frisch.

Moderator

It's pretty unusual, though, to use the title Frau together with the surname to introduce oneself.

Professor

That's right. The usual thing is to say "Mein Name ist..."

Radio D – Teil 1

Sprecherin

Mein Name ist...

Mein Name ist Frisch.

Sprecher

Mein Name ist Ayhan.

Ayhan

Sprecherin

Ich heiße...

Ich heiße Paula.

Paula

Sprecher

Sprecherin

Ich bin Hanne Frisch.

Sprecher

Mein Name ist Ayhan.

Sprecherin

Ich heiße Paula.

Moderator

And you can use that with first names and surnames.

Ayhan, for example, introduces himself by his first name.

Professor

The same goes for the phrase "Ich heiße...". It can be used, too, just with the first or the surname or both. Many young people like using only the first name and Paula's one of them.

Moderator

So, listeners, you've now heard four ways you can introduce yourself. Let's hear them again.
