Toby Blue

“We are the environment”– an appeal to children to become champions of the environment. Because children do get involved when plants and animals are at stake. And often enough it’s the children who open their parents’ eyes to wrongs large and small that are being done to the environment. Toby Blue sets out to encourage children to take responsibility for the well being of the environment.

There’s plenty of variety in each of the episodes: stories and reports from all over the world, cartoons both serious and funny, and there’s even a special little Ecolo guy called Toby Blue to guide the young viewers through the series.
