mRNA – Hype or Hope?

mRNA vaccines have emerged as the most effective weapon in the battle with coronavirus. But their potential application goes far beyond that. The basic operating system could facilitate the treatment of a whole host of diseases – including cancer, malaria, HIV infections and cardiovascular- and autoimmune disorders. But how exactly does it work? And what are the risks associated with mRNA technology? The documentary mRNA – Hype or Hope? provides some answers.

Opaque Worlds

What kinds of forces steer the destinies of the world beyond the public gaze? Where can we gain some sort of picture of the opaque worlds and their decisive impact on society, politics and business – effects that remain, for the most part, hidden or underestimated? These are questions addressed by the five-part documentary series Opaque Worlds. The first part, “The Battlespace of the Future,” explores the growing privatization of war. The second episode focuses on the fight against disinformation through fake news, propaganda and conspiracy theories. The remaining episodes examine organized crime, the expanded powers of intelligence agencies and the rise of mega-concerns like Google, Facebook and Amazon.

A Mother’s Nightmare

What causes a model mother to kill her children? A question explored in the documentary A Mother’s Nightmare. The film tells the story of Carol Coronado. In Los Angeles County in 2014, the young American murdered her three young daughters. Coronado had been an exemplary parent up to that point – loving, attentive, and devoted. Why did she commit this gruesome crime?

The Secrets of Opus Dei

It’s a diabolical sect – say critics of Opus Dei. The archconservative, Catholic institution sees itself as a burgeoning faith community in the service of Jesus Christ. But it operates behind a veil of secrecy. It has more than 90,000 members worldwide, all of whom have taken a vow of silence. Those who leave report persecution. The documentary The Secrets of Opus Dei – Faith, Power, Manipulation shines a light on the machinations of this shady organization.

Pure Magic: Iceland's Westfjords

Lonely Planet bills Iceland as the ideal summer holiday destination. In its "Best in Travel" recommendations, the publishing house has put the Westfjords top of the list of finest regions to visit in 2022. Euromaxx put this rating to the test: Why should this far-flung destination, of all places, be worth a trip? Attractions include the cliffs of Látrabjarg where millions of birds, such as puffins, nest in summer. Other big draws are the spectacular Dynjandi waterfall, the many hot springs and of course the fjords themselves. A good starting point for tours is the town of Ísafjörður, where you'll find some of the country's oldest buildings. Experience the magic of the Icelandic Westfjords in Euromaxx.

An Endless War

Since the foundation of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the year 1979, Iran, Israel and the US have been locked in a war. A nameless war that's never been officially declared. Iran and Israel have not been able to put their historic differences aside and meet each other halfway. There has never been any genuine dialog. Do the governments of Iran and Israel want this war? What part does the US play in the conflict? And how has this stagnation come to pass? DW broadcasts the two-part documentary An Endless War: Iran, Israel, the USA.

Part 1 Starting Wed 15 June 01:15

The Future of Travel

Excessive travel harms the environment. Tourism is partly responsible for climate change, transforms entire regions, effects rapid societal change and very often, benefits only a few. The documentary The Future of Travel conducts a research trip: How can those responsible in vacation hotspots shape future-proof, sustainable tourism? How can policymakers help? And what can each and every one of us do to ensure that the next generation can explore the world with a clear conscience?
