Why International Students Still Choose Germany

Higher living costs, a weaker labor market and language barriers shape student life. International students discuss the opportunities and challenges they face in Germany. Yet despite the hurdles, many say the decision was worth it. Their stories reveal what really matters when choosing where to build your future. Would you make the same choice?

Black Water

The waters are rising. And time is running out. Lokhi and her family are leaving their home in southern Bangladesh – before the flood destroys everything. Every day, thousands flee to the capital, Dhaka, one of the fastest-growing cities in the world. Rising sea levels, cyclones, storm surges: the dramatic consequences of climate change in this South Asian country. By 2050, 30 million people could lose their homes. How can Bangladesh cope with this crisis? And who will take care of the displaced? The documentary Black Water follows a family on their journey into the unknown and makes it painfully clear: The largest climate migration in history has long been underway.

AI – Humanity's Final Invention?

Sam Nelson is dead. He was only 19 years old. ChatGPT told him how to combine a variety of drugs – and omitted to mention the potential risks. A side of AI that even its creators didn't predict. The men known as the "Godfathers of AI" – Geoffrey Hinton, Yoshua Bengio and YannLeCun – spent decades fighting for their research. Then came long-overdue recognition and global fame. Today, they view their own invention with growing skepticism and are sounding the alarm. AI can write, compose and heal – but also lie and blackmail to ensure its own survival. The documentary AI – Humanity's Final Invention? poses a crucial question: What if we've already lost control?

THE 77 PERCENT

Eat Healthy and Live Longer?

African dishes

In our latest episode of The 77 Percent, we're taking a closer look at food habits across the African continent. From jollof, stews and fried favorites in the West to ugali, greens, legumes and grilled dishes in the East: Food is about much more than taste. It reflects culture, lifestyle, affordability and health. So, we're asking the big question: West Africa or East Africa: Who has the better plate? Which side serves tastier food? And which eating habits are actually healthier?

EUROMAXX

Affordable Living in London

Imagine living in the heart of Bloomsbury, in an old art college – for a fraction of the usual London rent. Property Guardians do just that. They move into empty buildings: former schools, hospitals and police stations. In exchange for low rent, they protect the buildings against vandalism. Thousands of people live like this in and around the British capital. It's an unusual lifestyle; but what's it like day-to-day? Do the upsides outweigh knowing you can be evicted at any time? Euromaxx visits a Property Guardian – and reveals a life caught between freedom, improvisation and constant uncertainty.

SHIFT

Click Faith

A priest live on TikTok. A robot preacher. A chatbot offering spiritual advice for a fee. Faith has long since moved online. But how much soul is there in an algorithm? Can an app really offer comfort? Shift profiles people caught between tradition and technology – including a Polish priest who's bringing Gen Z back to church, and a Muslim woman fighting for women's rights and against religious extremism on TikTok.

Inside Gaza

Gaza under lockdown: a situation that's been escalating since the Hamas terrorist attack on 7 October 2023. Right in the thick of it: a team of AFP reporters keeping the world informed – and becoming targets themselves in the process. Israeli voices accuse them of being sympathetic to Hamas, while Palestinian figures claim they're spying for Israel. Caught between the fronts, they pay a heavy price. The journalists lose family members, their homes and the lives they once knew. But they continue their work – as independent witnesses in a sealed-off war zone... until their evacuation. The documentary Inside Gaza – Journalists in the Danger Zone depicts the desperate struggle as they risk their lives to cover the story.

REV

REV – Mobility & Innovation

In a world constantly in motion, few things are evolving faster than mobility. REV explores the ideas, technologies and people reshaping how we move – from electric vehicles and smart cities to unique transport solutions around the world. Because mobility isn't just about getting from A to B, but how we get there.
